Prof Dr F. Weyr

DSI

C R E M O N A, Luigi - Italian Mathematician

B. December 7, 1830. Pavia
D. June 10, 1903. Rome

His reputation mainly rests on his important work "Introduction to a geometric theory of plane curves" which proclaims him a follower of the Steinerian or synthetical school. His achievements in the field of projective geometry and graphical statics won him great fame.

A Geometrical Sketch, designed by Cremona on February 13, 1871. A foot-note of Prof. Dr. Franz Weyr explains, that this sketch was owned by this father, the Viennese Mathematician Dr. Emil Weys who studied in Milano as pupil Cremona's.
